

BizCoach by ImpalaCloud is a unique B2B platform that uses state-of-the-art technology to enhance and deliver human expertise which is managed and deployed through a concept of resource pooling. This allows us to offer to our clients comprehensive business intelligence (BI), management tools, analytics and expert support that usually are only available in large corporations as in-house services. Our clear differentiator is the fact that we go beyond self-service BI tools and offer support by our own in-house financial experts to analyze and present our client's data derived from various systems and relevant external data in one place in a way they need it.
